FAQs

What does this mean for me now?

The last opportunity to complete CertICM was in April 2021. As you have not completed, you now have the option to transfer. The deadline to transfer is 30 June 2021. Please note, If you haven't completed the stage one (AwardCMF) and the stage two (CertICM) assessments, you will need to transfer first to the AwardICM and once completed, you will then be able to transfer to the new CertICM. If you have already completed stage one (AwardCMF), you only need to transfer to the new CertICM. If you don't transfer by this date, you will be required to pay the full course fee. Further information on transferring is available here.

I have a learning licence, will this change?

There is no change to your learning licence period. If you haven't completed by May 2021 and need to transfer, we will give you a pathway for completing and you will not be disadvantaged.

If I complete under the existing CertICM, will the qualification still be recognised and will my designatory letters change?

The qualification will still be recognised and valued, the change is just part of our ongoing education program and syllabi review. The designatory letters associated with this certificate can continue to be used whilst your membership is valid, and will be recognised as before.

My Student membership will expire after I transfer, what should I do?

Your Programme Manager will email you before the expiry date to inform you of how to make a payment to renew your student membership. Once you have renewed your membership, it will be valid until your learning licence expires or until you pass the course, whichever is soonest.
